THE IRISH WINE GEESE

In the late 1600s the Williamite War in Ireland ended with the French army granting safe pass to 20,000 Irish soldiers and their families. These fleeing Irishmen settled throughout France and were called the Irish Wild Geese. Amongst these immigrants came entrepreneurs and wine enthusiasts who would change the world of wine forever – the Irish Wine Geese – who played significant roles in shaping regions such as Bordeaux and Cognac and we still feel their influence today, even outside France. Some of the most famous Irish Wine Geese included Richard Hennessy, who settled in Cognac and founded one of the most renowned brandy brands on earth, Hennessy. Other entrepreneurs went to Bordeaux, and amongst them was Thomas Barton who arrived 1722 and started trading as a wine négociant. Over time the Barton family purchased numerous vineyards including Châteaux Léoville-Barton and Châteaux Langoa-Barton. The Barton's were not alone, other Irish Wine Geese included John Lynch, from Galway, who founded Château Lynch-Bages and now includes Château Lynch-Moussas. However, this is just the tip of the iceberg as over a dozen high-level estates in Bordeaux have Irish blood running through their veins while in recent years other Irish people have chased their dreams and purchased vineyards around France. F X Buckley are proud to list the following Irish Wine Geese Bordeaux wines:

2015 Château Mauvesin Barton – Moulis en Médoc € 88

WINE CELLAR

Here at F X Buckley, we pride ourselves not only in serving top-quality steak but also offering our customers a selection of the very finest wines to match. In our wine selection we are guided by our grandfather's motto of 'par excellence' and are always working to enhance and develop an outstanding range of wines on our list. Our objective is to choose the very best wines, at every price point, to go with our world class steaks but always ensuring the wine list is both exciting and interesting. So, we not only offer an extensive selection of classic wines from Bordeaux, Burgundy and Italy, but also a global choice of top wines from California, Australia and Argentina including some German and Austrian reds along with wines from Uruguay and Lebanon.

In building up the wine list we always consider the best wines to complement our different cuts of steak. A juicy and flavoursome rib-eye goes beautifully with a Cabernet Sauvignon from Bordeaux or California as their silky tannins balance the juiciness of the cut, whereas a rich and tender fillet goes well with an elegant Pinot Noir from Burgundy or Oregon. The tighter grain of a Sirloin works well with a soft, big juicy Malbec from Argentina or France, while a spicy, savoury Syrah, from the Rhone or Australia is great with a T-bone steak.

For those customers who like to linger over dessert and coffee after dinner, we now have our enticing Chateau D'Yquem Collection going back to 1976. We also have an outstanding Vintage Port Cellar going back to 1962. Always looking forward and expanding our fine wine cellar, we are one of the few restaurants in Ireland that, every year, buy the best of the newly released Bordeaux wines "En Primeur" or "Futures" to add to our extensive fine wine cellar. These wines are stored in our future listing cellar until mature and ready for the enjoyment of our customers.

We also offer a range of excellent wines by the glass using The Coravin System. This is the perfect way to experience some great wines without the expense of purchasing a whole bottle.

At F X Buckley, it is not just about wine but about 'wine par excellence', that is our passion!

F.X. Buckley discovered Webersburg, a boutique winery located in the beautiful wine region of Stellenbosch, while travelling in South Africa. It has a winemaking history going back over two hundred years with incredible original cellars built in 1786. The vineyards are located on exceptional granite soils on the slopes of the Helderberg Mountains where they benefit from the cool sea breezes. This small winery has a limited production of premium fine wines which reflect the unique Helderberg terroir. With low yielding vineyards, Webersburg produces a classic style of wine with an elegant ageing potential all resulting from the careful attention to detail in the vineyard and winemaking. At Webersburg they believe in minimal intervention during the barrel maturation of 18 to 22 months based on an unhurried ageing philosophy allowing the wines to mature in bottle for a further 2-4 years before release.
